Fresh Fruits & Vegetables in Season

Fresh Fruits	In Season
Apples	Available year-round, either fresh or from cold storage
Apricots	May through August
	Peak season: mid-May and June
	 Imports (Chile and southern hemisphere November through February)
Avocados	Available year-round
Bananas	Available year-round
Blackberries	Domestic production: June through September
	Imported production: September through March
Blueberries	Domestic production: May through November
	 Imported production: November through May
Cantaloupe	Available year-round
	Peak season: June through September
Cherries, sweet	Domestic production: May through August
	Imported production: December
Grapefruit	Arizona/California: year-round
	Peak Florida: September through June
	Texas: October through May
Grapes	Domestic Production (grown mostly in California):
	Greens: May through December
	 Reds: June through December
	 Blacks: December through April
	 Imported Production (grown mostly in Chile):
	 Greens: December through April
	 Reds: December through May
	Blacks: December through April
Honeydew	Peak Season: May through December
Kiwifruit	Available year-round
	 California peak season: November through April
	 New Zealand peak season: August and September
	Chile peak season: April through June
Mangos	Domestic production: May through September
	Import production: year-round
Nectarines	May through October
Oranges	Peak season: December through May
	Available year-round
Peaches	Peak season: May through September

Fresh Fruits, cont.	In Season
Pears	Winter pears: October through June
	Summer and fall pears: July through December
Pineapple	Available year-round
Plums	Peak Season: May through October
Raspberries	Domestic Production: May through November
	Import Production: December through May
Strawberries	Peak season: May through July
	Available year-round
Tangerines	July through April
Watermelon	Available year-round
	Peak season: May through August
Fresh Vegetables	In Season
Broccoli	Available year-round
Cabbage	Available year-round
	Early variety: December through May
Carrots	Available year-round
Cauliflower	Available year-round
	Peak season: October through January
Celery	Available year-round
Cucumber	Available year-round
	Peak season: March through November
Jicama	Import production
	Available year-round
Lettuce and Lettuce	Iceberg, endive, escarole available year-round
type greens	Romaine peak season: November through December
	Spinach peak season: January through February and June through August
	Kale peak season: November through April
Peppers, Bell	Available year-round
	Peak season: May through August
Sweet Potatoes	Available year-round
	Peak season: November through December
Tomatoes	Available year-round

Source: Fresh Fruits and Vegetables Galore: A Helping Kids Eat More, USDA

